

VERSAILLES Dining Table

VERSAILLES Dining Table

The prodigal royal son of the WINDSOR family, VERSAILLES is the most extravagant creation in our collection to date. Glass and gold surround a lavish inset piece in the form of a door created in 1880s France, whose jaunty angles and wrought-iron curves impart the joy and free spirit of those who know they were born to rule.

Time has transformed the colours of the original wood, iron and paintwork into a luxurious palette featuring hints of amber, chartreuse, lake green, and myriad colours that seem to change with every glance.

Texturally, VERSAILLES is also a feast, with its winding iron shapes, deep wooden reliefs and carvings, and distressed concrete. All its features are set off spectacularly by the decadently layered finish and stately shapes of its gold-covered base.

This piece is not just about flaunting — it's for those who believe in their divine right to be the ruler of their own lives. As for your guests? Let them eat... well, that part is up to you.
